Original contributions are solicited for the special session “Cyber Security and Digital Forensics” on the eve of IC3T to be held during July 24-26, 2015 at Hyderabad. Internet has made it easier to perpetrate crimes by providing criminals an avenue for launching attacks with relative anonymity. The increased complexity of the communication and networking infrastructure is making investigation of the cybercrimes difficult. The field of Cyber Security, Digital Forensics and Cybercrime investigation has become very important for law enforcement, national security, and information assurance. This is a multidisciplinary area that encompasses law, computer science, finance, telecommunications, data analytics, and policing. This session brings together practitioners and researchers from diverse fields providing opportunities for business and intellectual engagement among attendees.

The areas of coverage for the special session are:

- Cyber Security
- Network Security
- Digital Forensics Techniques and Tools
- Theoretical Foundations of Digital Forensics
- Digital Forensics & Law
- Digital Forensics Standardization & Accreditation
- Cyber Criminal Psychology and Profiling
